Training on public diplomacy

ISLAMABAD (PR): Mohsin Khan, an emerging social entrepreneur and development aid professional working with Korea International Cooperation Agency in Pakistan, has completed an international training on public diplomacy, which was designed to help diplomats and other actors better understand the attitudes of foreign and domestic publics towards foreign policy, and to influence and shape their views on these issues. Funded by Asia-Europe Foundation (Singapore) in collaboration with Federal Department Foreign Affairs Switzerland, the e-course was organized by Diplo Foundation in association with Center for Research on Europe New Zealand from April-June, 2016. "The Diplo-Foundation course by ASEF on public diplomacy was a life changing and innovative program for me to learn wining heart and minds, learning and sharing new dynamics in public diplomacy, connecting people across Asia-Europe and building a new network of change agents and public diplomats passionate for a just and peaceful society in the world," said Mohsin.

Mohsin was earlier selected by Ministry of Foreign Affairs of Republic of Korea from Pakistan (South Asia) for "Promoting Global Understanding and Mutual Partnership", an international Public Diplomacy competition organized at Ewha Women University and Korea Public Diplomacy Center in May, 2014. He is committed to build a positive image worldwide by working with several national and international institution and organizations.
