

GOVERNOR OF JEJU

Dear members, colleagues and friends;

Please allow me the honor of welcoming you to the second UCLG Culture Summit, held in Jeju, South Korea, on 10-13 May, 2017. The spirit and focus of this summit is "Commitments and Actions for Culture in Sustainable Cities".

As president of the UCLG Asia-Pacific (ASPAC), I have grown ever more deeply aware that culture is a crucial factor in sustainable local development.

Important initiatives have been realized in communities around the world, inspired by the founding UCLG document on culture, namely, the Agenda 21 for culture, approved in 2004, and by the practical toolkit, the Culture 21 Actions approved in the 2015 UCLG Culture Summit in Bilbao.

This includes establishing a UCLG ASPAC culture committee, as well as offering training programs to strengthen cultural capacity in partnership with the United Nations Institute for Training and Research (UNITAR).

By establishing and strengthening close networks and "cultural belts", we are building viable models to revitalize ailing cities, stimulating cultural activities that aid in economic growth.

Based on the positive results so far, I expect a panoply of new ideas and initiatives for sustainable city development during the second UCLG Culture Summit, working together to raise the quality of life in communities everywhere.

As Asia's first host for a Culture Summit, Jeju is enthusiastic about sharing its burgeoning growth and development, where residents pursue cultural activities with both indigenous features and cosmopolitan values. Jeju has worked hard to integrate the spirit of UCLG initiatives into public policies, nurturing the values they foster.

Please share your expertise and your experiences at the second Summit. Help us make this Summit a deeply meaningful exchange, expanding an international foundation of partnership between cities and local and regional governments.

I sincerely hope you enjoy, enrich and celebrate Jeju.

Won Hee-ryong

Governor of Jeju Special Self-Governing Province

President of UCLG ASPAC

Vicepresident of UCLG

UCLG'S PRESIDENT

Dear friends and colleagues,

Welcome to Jeju and to the second Culture Summit of United Cities and Local Governments. On behalf of UCLG, I would like to thank the Special Self-Governing Province of Jeju, a place that has long recognized the role of culture in the quality of life of its citizens, for hosting this flagship event for our network. I have no doubt that this Culture Summit will provide us with a great opportunity to get to know, first-hand, how Jeju integrates culture into its public policies.

The second UCLG Culture Summit comes at a vital moment for our world organization, as we turn our focus to the role of local governments in development by linking our daily responsibilities to the global agendas. Goal 11 of the Sustainable Development Goals (SDG), the inclusion of targets on culture and heritage in the SDG and New Urban Agenda, alongside many of our other priorities, are just the beginning. It is now up to us, local and regional governments around the world, to make these ambitions a reality on the ground.

For UCLG, localization isn't about parachuting global goals into local contexts; rather, it involves the implementation of local agendas in cities and territories to reach both local and global goals. Localizing is a bottom-up, rather than a top-down process. This is something that is abundantly clear in the field of culture. After all, culture is rooted in distinct places and peoples, in the unique heritage and creativity of our diverse communities.

The 2017 edition of the Culture Summit aims to reinforce partnerships among local, regional and global actors to ensure the cultural dimension is included in the implementation of the global agendas at all levels, building on the principles of the Agenda 21 for Culture.

I am extremely proud of UCLG's longstanding commitment to culture as the fourth pillar of sustainable development and our organization's leadership in developing the Culture 21 Actions toolkit, launched at the inaugural Culture Summit in Bilbao in 2015.

In culture, as in every field of our work, local governments cannot achieve our ambitions alone. We need to partner with experts and civil society to unite our efforts around our shared values and priorities. Global gatherings like this one are an essential part of establishing and deepening these vital partnerships, allowing us to share with, learn from, and build a shared vision with our partners.

I am confident the Summit will be a rich, inspiring and enjoyable event that will strengthen the alliance of local and regional leaders, organizations, activists and citizens committed to harnessing culture to build inclusive and sustainable cities.

The worldwide community of culture will come together in Jeju!

Be bold, we are counting on you to enrich our policies and to lead the way towards a world that leaves no one behind!

Mpho Parks Tau

President of UCLG

INTRODUCTION

The second UCLG Culture Summit is held in Jeju (Jeju-do, Republic of Korea) on 10-13 May 2017, hosted by the Jeju Special Self-Governing Province.

The UCLG Culture Summit is the main meeting point at global level of cities, local governments and other stakeholders that are committed to the effective implementation of policies and programmes on culture and sustainability.

Entitled “Commitments and Actions for Culture in Sustainable Cities”, the second Culture Summit of UCLG aims to develop and reinforce messages on the role of culture in sustainable development, with a particular emphasis on the importance of cities and local spaces. It can be seen as a global forum for knowledge-sharing, peer-learning and networking among cities and local governments.

The second Culture Summit of UCLG responds to the growing importance given to the nexus of culture, cities and sustainable development by international organisations and frameworks. Recent milestones include the UN 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development (adopted in September 2015), the New Urban Agenda (adopted by the Habitat III Conference in Quito, October 2016) and the Statement of the 2nd World Assembly of Local and Regional Governments (also adopted in Quito, October 2016).

Also addressed in Jeju will be other relevant issues in contemporary global debates on sustainable cities, including the recognition and full implementation of the Right to the City and the development of participatory forms of local governance, enabling citizens to actively take part in local democracy.

The Culture Summit in Jeju builds on the results of the first UCLG Culture Summit, which took place in Bilbao on 18-20 March 2015 with the title “Culture and Sustainable Cities”. It gathered representatives of 75 cities and 69 local, national and international organisations from every continent. The Summit demonstrated how cities are taking the lead in recognising the absolute necessity of culture in sustainable development.

On the occasion of the first UCLG Culture Summit, a practical toolkit called Culture 21: Actions was adopted, which enables local governments, civil society activists and other relevant stakeholders to evaluate, implement and exchange knowledge on how to fully integrate culture in local sustainable development. Experiences from cities currently implementing Culture 21: Actions will be presented and discussed at the Jeju Summit.

Over three days, the second UCLG Culture Summit will combine plenary sessions, smaller, thematic parallel sessions, project presentations and networking spaces.

KEY THEMES

Plenary sessions will focus on cross-cutting themes which have also informed the design of the overall programme. The following themes will be addressed:

Implementing Culture 21 Actions. How are cities in different world regions working to fully integrate culture in their sustainable development strategies, programmes and projects? What progress can be observed? What are the challenges? Following the adoption of Culture 21 Actions in 2015, city leaders and experts working on the ground will share their experiences and discuss lessons learned and challenges identified. Specific themes included in Culture 21 Actions (e.g. culture and climate change; or culture, urban planning and public space; etc.) will be examined in parallel sessions, enabling detailed project presentations, group reflection and practical guidance.

Towards a Global Culture 2030 Goal. In the wake of the adoption of new global agendas (in particular, the UN 2030 Agenda (including the SDG – Sustainable Development Goals) and the New Urban Agenda), the Summit will review the progress made but will also discuss the necessary steps to strengthen the global constituency and knowledge on culture and sustainable development in the long term. Whereas references to culture are included in global agendas, culture is not yet recognised as the fourth pillar of sustainable development. Where should efforts focus in the next few years? Including a plenary and two parallel sessions, the discussion will involve both stakeholders active in the campaigns on culture and sustainable development and other relevant agents, including UN agencies, civil society organisations and academics from other fields.

Cultural Rights and Local Alliances for Culture. Cultural rights provide the backbone for participative cultural policies contributing to an inclusive and diverse cultural life and for ensuring that no one is left behind in cities' vision of culture and sustainable development. Around the world, many cities have established participative, cooperative models for the local governance of culture and have integrated cultural aspects in their approaches to sustainable development. At global level, progress in the field of cultural rights is also being made by the UN Special Rapporteur in the field of Cultural Rights.

The Summit is also underpinned by an aim to foster learning on a wide range of issues related to culture and sustainable cities. The parallel sessions have been designed to allow presentation of experiences, introduce on-going work and provide advice on needs and opportunities. The Summit is a place for peer-learning and networking among cities, local governments and other stakeholders.

CULTURE IN UCLG: BACKGROUND

The mission of the world association of United Cities and Local Governments – UCLG is to be the united voice and world advocate of democratic local self-government, promoting its values, objectives and interests, through cooperation between local governments, and within the wider international community.

UCLG has played an important role since 2004 in promoting the role of culture in sustainable cities:

- In 2004, UCLG adopted the Agenda 21 for culture, a declaration with 67 articles that describes the relationship between local cultural policies and human rights, governance, sustainable development, participatory democracy and peace. The Agenda 21 for culture was the first worldwide document establishing principles and commitments by cities and local governments for cultural development. More than 650 cities, local governments and organizations from all over the world are linked to Agenda 21 for culture. The Agenda 21 for culture as complemented in 2015 with Culture 21 Actions, a practical toolkit that updates key aspects of the relation between culture and sustainable development in cities and aims to enable self-evaluation, policy innovation and peer-learning.
- In 2010, the Executive Bureau of UCLG approved the document “Culture: Fourth Pillar of Sustainable Development” in its World Congress held in Mexico City. This document engages local governments to explicitly include culture in a development model that ‘meets the needs of the present without compromising the ability of future generations to meet their own needs’. Operationally, the document points to the relationship between culture and sustainable development through a dual approach: developing a solid cultural policy (culture as a driver of development), and advocating a cultural dimension in all public policies (culture as an enabler of development).

- Since March 2013, UCLG’s role as facilitator of the Global Taskforce has included Culture in local and regional governments’ inputs to the UN 2030 Agenda on Sustainable Development and the New Urban Agenda. The Statement of the 2nd World Assembly of Local and Regional Governments resulting from this work, adopted in Quito in October 2016, establishes a commitment to ‘Integrate culture as the fourth pillar of sustainable development and take action to foster heritage, creativity, diversity and peaceful co-existence’.

- The 5th UCLG World Congress, held in Bogotá in October 2016, adopted the Bogotá Commitment and Action Agenda, which includes one area of Action entitled “Promote Local Heritage, Creativity and Diversity through People-Centred Cultural Policies”, as well as other references to culture.

- The “International Award UCLG – MEXICO CITY – Culture 21” aims to recognize leading cities and individuals that have distinguished themselves through their contribution to culture as a key dimension in sustainable cities. The Award is biennial. The first edition took place in 2013-2014 and the second one took place in 2015-2016. The call for candidacies of the third edition of the Award will open in October 2017 and close in February 2018.
- In recent years, the Committee on Culture of UCLG has cooperated with other global networks in order to promote the inclusion of culture in sustainable development agendas, particularly through the #culture2015goal campaign, also known as ‘The Future We Want Includes Culture’.

The UCLG Committee on Culture is a unique platform, which gathers cities, associations and networks that foster the relationship between local cultural policies, and sustainable development. The Committee is co-chaired by Buenos Aires and Mexico City, and is vice-chaired by Angers, Barcelona, Belo Horizonte, Bilbao, Bogotá, Jeju, Paris and Porto Alegre. It has members and partners across all continents.

CULTURE IN SUSTAINABLE CITIES

Following the adoption of Culture 21 Actions in 2015, the UCLG Committee on Culture has established a set of capacity-building and peer-learning programmes. In particular, a wide range of cities in different world regions are currently participating in the following programmes:

Pilot Cities is a learning programme based on the 9 commitments and 100 actions included in Culture 21 Actions. Lasting for approximately 30 months, it includes local awareness-raising, international peer-review, capacity-building, pilot local projects, public seminars and elaboration of good practices. As of April 2017, the Pilot Cities programme involves Baie Mahault, Chignahuapan, Ciudad del Carmen, Concepción, Córdoba, Cuenca, Eivissa/Ibiza, Elefsina, Escazú, Esch-sur-Alzette, Gabrovo, Galway, Izmir, Konya, La Paz, Leeds, Lisbon, Maastricht, Madrid, Mérida, Muriaé, Namur, Nova Gorica, Puebla, Rijeka, Santa Fe, Sinaloa, Swansea, the island of Tenerife, Terrassa and Timisoara.

The Leading Cities programme gives support to cities that have experience in the implementation of culture and sustainability, through measures in the areas of Cooperation and Learning (technical assistance, capacity-building, good practices), Leadership and Advocacy (participation in international events and processes) and Communication (website, social media). As of April 2017, the Leading Cities programme involves Angers, Barcelona, Belo Horizonte, Bilbao, Bogotá, Buenos Aires, Jeju, Lille-Métropole, Malmö, Mexico City, Paris, Porto Alegre, Talca and Vaudreuil-Dorion.

Culture 21 Lab is a short workshop on “Culture in Sustainable Cities”. It enables cities to self-evaluate their work in this field. It provides key basic information on the place of culture in sustainable development, and it is a useful way to raise awareness of this field among local stakeholders.

The Committee on Culture of UCLG also works with other cities, local and regional governments and the UCLG regional sections in order to tailor specific capacity-building and peer-learning programmes to their needs.

JEJU SPECIAL SELF-GOVERNING PROVINCE

The Province of Jeju has an extensive background in the implementation of cultural policies and programmes in sustainable development. Jeju became the founding Chair of the Committee on Culture established by UCLG ASPAC in 2015.

Since 2014, the Province of Jeju has demonstrated leadership and expertise on culture and sustainability. First Asian Pilot City of the Agenda 21 for culture in 2014, Jeju became in 2015 a Leading Province of Agenda 21 for culture and joined the board of the Committee on culture of UCLG in 2016. The Province of Jeju is developing a great work combining culture, heritage, creativity, sustainable communities, public spaces and environmental concern. Jeju is emerging as an exemplar place in the field of cultural policies in Asia, and open to the whole world.

Jeju is 73 km wide and 41 km long with a total area of 1,848 km², and has a mild oceanic climate. The largest island in South Korea, Jeju emerged 700,000 – 1,200,000 years ago as the result of an underwater volcanic eruption, and sacred Mt Halla rises in its centre to 1950m above sea level. Relatively isolated from the rest of the world, the island's nature has been well preserved in its original state. Jeju's unique culture can be found in its diving women, shamanism, distinct dialect, arts and crafts, foods its people's longevity and a strong sense of community. The Jeju Haenyeo (Women diver) was added to UNESCO's intangible cultural heritage list in November 2016. Ecocultural tourism is the primary industry, and with good reason: UNESCO has designated Jeju Island in 3 of its Natural Science categories: Biosphere, World Natural heritage and Global Geopark, making Jeju the only place in the world to have received this "Triple Crown". Jeju has also been selected as one of the world's "New 7 Wonders of Nature".

Support for cultural industries is one central component of many cities’ cultural strategies. From the perspective of sustainability, the design and delivery of programmes in this area needs to take into account a number of aspects, including the existence of adequate support mechanisms, the balance between cultural and economic objectives, and the availability of support for small-scale, emerging initiatives. A range of experiences and views from different world regions will be presented in this session.

Parallel session E2: "Build the Narrative" on Culture and Sustainable Cities (WORKSHOP)

Fostering a comprehensive understanding of the links between culture and sustainable development is a complex process. Around the world, a set of different narratives exist: those that have become the frame of UCLG's work on culture (such as the aim to promote culture as the 'fourth pillar' of sustainable development and the stress on cultural rights and people-centered cultural policies as a basis for cultural approaches to sustainable development) as well as those that see in culture a resource or an instrument to achieve economic or social aims. In this practical session, participants will be invited to discuss their narratives and discourses and identify obstacles to the understanding of the relationship between culture and sustainable development. They will also be asked on the role played by the UCLG Committee on culture during the last years. Finally, participants will share ideas on how they communicate their narratives.

Chair: Mr. Toni BLANCO, Adviser on Networks and Sustainability, UCLG
