14th East Asia - Europe Think-tank Dialogue: Engendering Inclusive Growth

A Common Challenge for Strong Bilateral Relations Between Asia and the European Union - Social Cohesion Debates and Policies in Asia and Europe
12- 13 September 2012, Vientiane, Laos

10 September, SINGAPORE – With only two months to go before world leaders gather for the 9th Summit of the Asia-Europe Meeting (ASEM), ASEM watchers will be analysing the actual state of the ASEM process and the consequences of the EU debt crisis on bi-lateral relations between the two regions.

Social cohesion was re-affirmed as a priority for ASEM leaders at the 8th ASEM Summit in 2010. However, given the economic crisis, progress in ensuring access to decent work, civil society engagement and inclusive growth may have been limited. Cutbacks from the austerity measures imposed by many governments have a tendency to strongly impact social development programmes. Therefore alternatives have to be sought at the national and international levels to protect the most vulnerable.

As Dr Wilhelm Hofmeister, Regional Representative for Politics at the Konrad Adenauer Stiftung, notes 'The challenges faced today can only be addressed collectively, especially when it comes to social integration issues where both regions face similar challenges. Since political agendas are shaped by expert opinions and voices, the Think Tank Dialogue provides the opportunity for renowned Think Tanks from Europe and East and Southeast Asia for policy oriented collaboration on bi-regional relations between Asia and Europe'.

Speaking on behalf of the Asia-Europe Foundation, Executive Director Ambassador Michel Filhol points out the relevance of the Think-tank dialogue, 'At a time when ASEM leaders are gathering, it is important to reflect on how current attitudes towards bi-regional cooperation will shape future Asia-Europe relations. The Think-tank Dialogue provides the perfect opportunity to feel the pulse of current social integration debates beyond state boundaries'.

The 14th East Asia-Europe Think Tank Dialogue is co-organised by the Asia-Europe Foundation, the Konrad Adenauer Stiftung, the Institute of Strategic and Development Studies and the Institute of Foreign Affairs. The Meeting will take place on 14-15 September 2012, at the Hotel Plaza Laos in Vientiane.

Ambassador Sayakane Sisouvong, Permanent Secretary of Cabinet, Laos Ministry of Foreign Affairs, will deliver the keynote speech during the opening plenary on 12th September.
